++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Fog patches clearing to sunny spells. Isolated showers developing later.

Today:
Areas of low cloud and fog should slowly thin and break through the morning to reveal some warm sunny spells for most. These may spark a few showers in places into the afternoon, although for many it will remain dry. Maximum temperature 24 deg C (75 deg F).

Tonight:
Mainly fine during the evening, especially across eastern areas, with light winds here perhaps allowing further fog patches. Cloudier in the far west, with spells of rain becoming slow moving. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Sunday:
Starting fine with some bright spells in eastern parts after any fog lifts. Rain in the west will edge eastwards however, with some slow-moving heavy downpours reaching eastern districts later. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Probably rather cloudy and damp to start the working week, but gradually brightening later Monday and through Tuesday. Breezier Wednesday, ahead of some rain moving southeast later. Temperatures falling slightly.
